Long ago, all the world was connected,
and a warm light covered it.

The people all loved the light,
and at length, they began to fight for it.

Darkness was born in the people's hearts.

The darkness swallowed many hearts and much light, and before long, it had spread far,
and the world disappeared into the darkness.

However, inside the hearts of children,
there was still a small spark of light.

Gathering the fragments of light,
the children remade the world.

However, the world that was created
is not all connected,
and is made of many small pieces.

That is because the true light was still sleeping deep within the darkness...

Who... are you?
